Dear Parents and Carers,

I am delighted to share the outcome of our recent Ofsted inspection and to celebrate the wonderful recognition that our school has received.

The inspection found that Red Hill Field Primary School meets the expected standard in all areas, with safeguarding judged to be fully effective and many aspects of school life recognised as particular strengths. Under Ofsted's new framework, the expected standard means the school is doing everything it should be to provide children with a high-quality education and the support they need to thrive. It is an important achievement and reflects the high standards our children deserve.

The report highlights many of the things that make Red Hill Field such a special place, including that:

"This is a caring and inclusive school. Staff know pupils and their families extremely well."

"Leaders demonstrate strong moral purpose. They are fully committed to ensuring that Red Hill Field Primary School is an inclusive community where all pupils can achieve, thrive and feel a sense of belonging."

"Staff are extremely proud to work at the school and to serve the community."

Our children received many compliments throughout the report including:

"Pupils are extremely polite and well behaved."

"They treat one another with kindness and care."

"Pupils rise to the extremely high expectations set by their teachers."

Inspectors acknowledged the significant improvements made across the school and the strong foundations we have established for future success including the strong outcomes achieved by our pupils, our work to improve attendance, our inclusive approach to supporting pupils with additional needs, and the positive relationships that exist between home and school.

While we are proud of the positive feedback in the report, we remain committed to continually improving and providing the very best education and opportunities for all our pupils.

This report belongs to everyone and is very much a recognition of what we achieve together. It is a reflection of our wonderful children, our dedicated staff, our supportive governors and trust colleagues, and of course our parents and carers.

Thank you for your ongoing support. Together, we have created a school community where children are happy, valued and able to succeed, and we are delighted that this has been recognised.

Yours sincerely,

Rachel Watts
